

Instructions to Authors

ACTA ICHTHYOLOGICA ET PISCATORIA welcomes concise papers reporting original experimental data or experimental methods, or new analyses of already existing data, in any aspect of Ichthyology and Fisheries. Submitted reviews will not be considered.

Scripts. Papers written in English, clearly and concisely, should be typed in double spacing (30 lines per page) with a margin of 4 cm on the left hand side, with one copy. Generally, the size of manuscript should not exceed 12 printed pages.

The text. The papers should be arranged according to the pattern: author's name and surname, title of the paper, institution and post address, followed by: Abstract, Introduction, Material and Methods, Results and Discussion, Conclusions and References. An excess of headings and subheadings should be avoided.

An Abstract (maximum 15 typed lines) should outline briefly the purpose of the study and detail important findings and the author's principal conclusions. Redundant phrases, generally known informations and repetitions should be avoided. This should be presented so that can be directly used for abstract journals.

At the end of contribution the addresses of the authors (or only that of the corresponding author) should be given.

Tables must be self-explanatory, types of separate sheets, numbered consecutively and carry an appropriate title. Tables should contain synthetic (not primary) data and not exceed A4 size.

Figures. Only well reproducible figures are requested: a) photographs black - and white and clear; b) drawings on white card or parchment papers in Indian ink; c) high-quality computer-generated line diagrams, or glossy prints. A full legend describing the Figure and giving a key to all the symbols should be typed on a separate sheet.

Illustrations should be limited to a minimum.

References in the text should be quoted by authors name and date (in parentheses). If there are more than two authors, only first should be named, followed by "et al." The reference list at the end of paper should contain:

- for journals: names and initials of authors, year, of publication, title of the paper, title of journal abbreviated according to World List of Scientific Periodicals, volume and first and last page of reference;
- for books: names and initials of authors, year, title of the book, volume and edition, publisher and place of publication.

All references in this list should be indicated at some point in the text and vice versa. References should be limited to a minimum. Unpublished data or private communications should be avoided.

The titles of papers published in Polish should be translated into English and their original language is stated in brackets.

Abbreviations and symbols. Quantities should be expressed in SI units. All abbreviations should be spelled out when first used in the text.

Off prints. Authors receive 25 off prints. Additional copies may be ordered at cost price.
